About ASCD

Background Information

Founded in 1943, the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development (ASCD) is an international, non-profit, non-partisan organization that represents more than 175,000 educators from 119 countries and nearly 60 affiliates. Our members span the entire profession of educators—superintendents, supervisors, principals, teachers, professors of education, and school board members.

ASCD offers multiple perspectives across all education professions in reporting key policies and practices. We provide “in the field” perspectives and offer our extensive resources in support of education. Because we represent all educators, we are able to focus solely on professional practice within the context of “Is It Good for the Kids?” rather than what is reflective of a specific educator role. In short, ASCD reflects the conscience and content of education.

ASCD Community

ASCD as an organization is composed of multiple and overlapping communities that are interconnected by physical location and common interests. ASCD’s affiliates serve as key educational links at local, state, and international levels. The ASCD Student Chapter Program is an important resource for pre-service and graduate-level students. The ASCD Networks continue to provide forums for educators and noneducators alike on various themes that address traditional teaching and learning, progressive approaches, classroom and non-classroom delivery, and management-related topics.

Cutting-Edge Professional Development

ASCD is widely respected among educators for the quality of its award-winning educational programs, products, and services. ASCD’s conferences and workshops stretch your thinking and expand your skills while you exchange ideas and experiences with colleagues and peers. ASCD’s on-site staff development, videos, online training, and multimedia allow you to fully explore education issues from a variety of perspectives. ASCD’s Books and Publications—An Expert Source for Growth and Learning

ASCD is known throughout the profession for its ability to identify education trends and to translate research into practice. ASCD’s award-winning publications and newsletters provide timely, accurate, and useful ideas to educators at all levels and subject areas. These publications include Educational Leadership, ASCD Smartbrief, and many more. ASCD publishes 22 to 30 new books each year on topics that meet the needs of educators in all content areas, from preschool through college. Our books seek to blend theory and research with practical guidance, helping readers positively influence what happens in classrooms and schools all over the world.
