

An Item in ORCA-Iditarod on Determining a Web Site Authors' Purpose

What Do You Think About The Iditarod Race

6. Activity 4: Investigating The Purpose Of A Website.

Activity 4. Please read ALL of the directions on this screen before you begin.

Use the Internet to locate the Sled Dog Action Coalition website. Click here to open a new window and begin your search.

Explore the Sled Dog Action Coalition website to learn more about this site. Use the pull down menus below to answer each question with Yes, No, or Don't Know.

Choose Yes or No or Don't Know

Does the website provide factual information?	<input type="text"/>
Does the website try to persuade you to think or feel a certain way?	<input type="text"/>
Does the website try to sell you something?	<input type="text"/>
Does the website try to raise money or collect donations?	<input type="text"/>

Please use the box below. Provide evidence from the website to support each "Yes" answer.

By asking students questions like those in the activity above, teachers can help students determine the usefulness and reliability of information on a Web site.
