GROUP DYNAMICS

The Intent Behind Behavior
Learning the Skills of Cooperative Planning
A Workshop for Supervisors
A Bibliography in Grouping

Journal of The Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, N.E.A.
In March

A Good Environment for Learning—Many of the prime factors which go to make up a desirable environment in which children learn successfully will be presented by the March authors. Margaret Hampel and some Oklahoma City teachers tap the community in providing enlarged learning experiences; Fred V. Hein stresses the health aspect in school living; and Roger Albright the skillful use of tools for today. Ways in which crowded schools can make better use of their present limited facilities are outlined by Anne Hoppock. Laura Zirbes gives a comprehensive view of many of the contributing factors in an environment conducive to learning. Attention is given to the importance of stressing human values in an article by Elizabeth Gailfoile; and Ruth Cunningham and a group of Denver associates share with us results of their research in investigating climates in which good group living can flourish. Other contributors are W. Carson Ryan, Hazel F. Gabbard, and William Vitarelli.

In This Issue

Group Dynamics—Its Implication for Leadership

Kenneth D. Benne

Toward Improved Skill in Group Living: A Discussion ... Leland P. Bradford 286

Let's Work Together on the Curriculum ... Ronald Lippitt 294

The Intent Behind Behavior: A Study in Group Dynamics ... Bernard Steinzor 301

A College Class Discovers Group Dynamics ... Fred Barnes 306

Five Days with a Group in Action ... Phil C. Lange 313

On the Symptoms and Survival of Senile Groups ... Alvin F. Zander 319

Learning the Skills of Cooperative Planning ... Etheleen Daniel 322

A College Planning Conference ... H. M. Hamlin 328

A Workshop for Supervisors ... Jessie Graham 333

A Supplement to a Minimum Bibliography in Grouping ... A. J. Dolio 337

Departments

The Importance of People ... Myrtle F. Sugarman 338

The Changing World ... Harold C. Hand 340

Front Lines in Education ... Galen Saylor 342

Tools for Learning ... William V. Vitarelli 345

The New—in Review ... Sara M. Krentzman 347