A GOOD ENVIRONMENT FOR LEARNING • • Do You Know This School? • • Planning for Play • • Healthful School Living • • Tools for Today's Problems
Administration's Concern with School Programs—This important phase of achieving good instructional programs is discussed from several angles. Harold Alberty and Robert Gilchrist contribute articles of special interest to secondary school educators.

Maurice J. Thomas outlines a year-round program with workable guides; Dorothy C. Bahn, a teacher, gives her concept of the teacher's role in administration; and individuals from the Denver public schools discuss the function of the total school personnel in cooperative participation. Marcella Lawler prepares plans with resource persons and their particular responsibilities, and suggestions are given to superintendents for well-organized school systems by Zeno B. Katterle and Don S. Patterson.

Leslie W. Johnson advocates total participation in sound educational platforms. Alice Pittman is another contributor; Walter A. Anderson gives guides to further reading; and Hannah M. Lindahl makes a statement on skills for children.

IN THIS ISSUE
A Good Environment for Learning

Do You Know This School? .................. Anonymous .................. 351
Modern Settings for Learning .................. Laura Zirbes .................. 353
A Group Creates Its Climate .................. Ruth Cunningham and Associates .................. 358
Human Values Take Priority .................. Elizabeth Guilfoile .................. 363
Ingenuity Finds a Way .................. Anne Hoppock .................. 370
Releasing Children's Creative Forces .................. William V. Vitarelli .................. 375
Planning for Play .................. Hazel F. Gabbard .................. 379
Some Guides to Healthful School Living .................. Fred V. Hein .................. 383
Tools for Today's Problems .................. Roger Albright .................. 387
These Make the Difference .................. W. Carson Ryan .................. 391
Pushing Out the Four and Oklahoma City Walls .................. Margaret Hampel and Oklahoma City Teachers .................. 395

Departments
The Changing World .................. Harold C. Hand .................. 401
The Listening Post .................. Roy K. Wilson .................. 403
The Importance of People .................. Myrtle F. Sugarman .................. 404
Front Lines in Education .................. Galen Saylor .................. 406
The New—in Review .................. Sara M. Krentzman .................. 411