February 1949

Educational Leadership

CREATIVE LEADERSHIP
Leadership Must Take a Stand
• Parent-Teacher Conferences
The New Look in Administration
• • • • Who Is the Leader?

Journal of The Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, N.E.A.
Secondary Education for Today—This issue brings together what many secondary school people have to say about today's programs.

Hubert Evans deals with adjustments of the slow learner. G. W. Parkyn describes recent transition in New Zealand. Roland Faunce outlines the Michigan College Agreement and its implications for curriculum improvement. Parent reaction to proposed changes in the high school program is treated by George Henry. Harold Hand writes on findings of the Illinois Secondary School Curriculum Program.

Paul Pinckney shows how subject matter lines may be broken down. J. Paul Leonard writes on teachers for modern schools. In planning learning experiences, Howard Cummings lists adjustments youth must make to meet society's demands.

Other authors are Robert C. Hammock, Marian Butler, Paul Grim, and Vernon Anderson.

In this issue
Creative Leadership

On These Leadership Must Take a Stand........ Willard E. Goslin........ 258
Curriculum Leadership........ Gordon N. Mackenzie........ 264
This We Do Believe..................... 272
Organizational Blocks to Creative Leadership...Gilbert S. Willey........ 276
Leadership Responsibility for School Costs........ Frederick L. Hipp and Virgil M. Rogers........ 280
A Community Plans Its School Buildings........ Cleve O. Westby........ 285
Who Is the Leader?..................... Johnnyc V. Cox........ 290
Let's Look at Parent-Teacher Conferences........ Celia Burns Stendler........ 292
Twenty-One Varieties of Educational Leadership...Lowry W. Harding........ 299
The New Look in School Administration........ Citizenship Education Study ............... 302
Stereotypes and the Growth of Groups........ Herbert Thelen and Watson Dickerman........ 309
The Role of the Status Leader in Group Work......................... 317
Departments
The Changing World........ Miles E. Cary........ 321
The Listening Post........ William H. Anderson, Jr........ 323
The New—in Review........ Arno DeBernardis........ 326
Front Lines in Education........ Galen Saylor........ 329
The Importance of People........ Dorothy T. Hayes........ 335