Supervision Today—always a popular theme with readers of Educational Leadership, includes in the April magazine articles on: changing concepts of educational leadership, intervisitation programs, conversion of teachers trained in the secondary field for work in elementary grades, the kinds of help teachers want, in-service programs, research in elementary reading programs, and needed research in curriculum development.

The authors are: Charles Boye and associates, Ruth Cunningham, Stanley Applegate, Pauline Hilliard, Helen Buck ley, H. L. Caswell, George Eby, Alice Miel, Vernon Replogle, John Goodlad, Mary Alice Mitchell, and Catharine Hultsch.

"Letters from Abroad," a monthly feature, in April will be an article from Madame Helene Brule, a French educator well known to our readers.
