HOW WE LEAD

VISIONARY, INSTRUCTIONAL LEADER, ENGAGER, AND COLLABORATOR. These four key roles are the foundation of ASCD's new Principal Leadership Development Framework. Aligned with the new Interstate School Leaders Licensure Consortium (ISLLC) Standards and other relevant leadership standards and rubrics, this framework will help you create sustainable leadership development programs and practices using ASCD's extensive professional learning resources found in this guide.

Creating a positive culture, effectively using data, and leading professional learning are just some of the topics that will help you become an effective principal or teacher leader. Books, online courses, streaming video, or conferences—ASCD has the professional learning solutions to fit your needs and budget.

Whether you're already in a leadership role or aspire to be in one, the resources in this guide will support you and your staff in your work to transform your classrooms and schools.

LEADERSHIP

ATTRIBUTES

VISIONARY

- Articulates, communicates, and leads the implementation and ongoing revision of the school's mission and vision.
- Aligns and bases all decisions, practices, policies, and resources (human capital, time, budgetary, and facilities) on the school's mission and vision.
- Promotes the collaborative creation, monitoring, and refinement of long-term and short-term school improvement plans.
- Compels the district/school community to embrace and work toward the attainment of the shared mission and vision.

INSTRUCTIONAL LEADER

- Builds collective capacity of the entire staff through the cultivation of a robust professional learning community.
- Builds individual capacity of the entire staff through differentiated supervision, coaching, feedback, and evaluation practices.
- Assures the alignment of rigorous curriculum, research-based best practices in instruction, and comprehensive formative/summative assessment approaches.
- Promotes monitoring systems that utilize real-time data to inform school site, teams, and teacher's instruction and intervention decisions.

ENGAGER

- Maintains an unwavering priority of establishing and fostering an environment that tends to the Whole Child: Healthy, Safe, Engaged, Supported, and Challenged.
- Creates and cultivates partnerships within the parent, district, business, political, and greater community to support the achievement of the school's mission and vision.
- Leads and navigates positive change by assessing, analyzing, and anticipating emerging trends and implementing change-savvy techniques with staff and the school community.
- Safeguards community values, ethics, and equitable practices, advocating for all children and displaying an appreciation for diversity.
- Develops policies and practices that cultivate staff as reflective practitioners.

LEARNER AND COLLABORATOR

- Facilitates the delivery of job-embedded, ongoing, coordinated professional learning opportunities that lead to increased student achievement.
- Develops internal leaders and nurtures an environment of shared/distributed leadership, ownership, and decision-making.
- Models reflective practice, confidence, humility, grit, and interest in continuous growth and lifelong learning.
