Hello little ones. Welcome to the world.
What’s that noise, Mama?
That’s my voice.
What’s a...voice?

In this beautifully illustrated children’s book from student voice advocate Russ Quaglia, his daughter Cali, and award-winning artist Daniel Minter, Cay and Adlee, two newborn birds, learn how we can use our voices to tell others how we feel, ask for help, and share our hopes and dreams. With whimsical illustrations, questions for discussion and reflection, and a positive and timely message about student voice and engagement, this book for preK–2 students will spark important conversations in the classroom—and beyond.

Russ Quaglia is the president and founder of the Quaglia Institute for Student Aspirations. His groundbreaking work on student voice is evidenced by an extensive library of research-based publications, prominent international speaking appearances, and popular student survey tools. Cali Quaglia, Russ’s teenage daughter, is a student author who believes it’s crucial that everyone has a voice.

Daniel Minter is an experienced children’s book illustrator and internationally known artist for his paintings, sculpture, and Kwanzaa stamps for the U.S. Postal Service. Ellen’s Broom, one of his 11 children’s books, won the Coretta Scott King Illustration Honor.
