All Learning Is Social and Emotional: Helping Students Develop Essential Skills for the Classroom and Beyond

Nancy Frey, Douglas Fisher, and Dominique Smith

If you teach kids rather than standards, and if you want all kids to get what they need to thrive, in this book, Nancy Frey,

Douglas Fisher, and Dominique Smith offer a solution: a comprehensive, five-part model of social-emotional learning that's easy to integrate into everyday content instruction, no matter what subject or grade level you teach. Along with a toolbox of strategies for addressing 33 essential competencies, you'll find real-life examples highlighting the many opportunities for social and emotional learning within the K-12 academic curriculum.

Demonstrating Student Mastery with Digital Badges and Portfolios

David Niguidula

Building off an essential question—What do schools want their students to know and be able to do?—David Niguidula shows how you can help students meet standards and express their individuality through digital badges and portfolios. Learn how your school can implement a proficiency-based approach to student learning, that has been successfully field-tested in districts across the United States, by connecting standards to badges, creating portfolio-worthy tasks, developing common rubrics, and guiding students in curating the elements of their portfolios.

Math Fact Fluency: 60+ Games and Assessment Tools to Support Learning and Retention

Jennifer Bay-Williams and Gina Kling

Mastering the basic facts for addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division is an essential goal for all students. Most educators also agree that success at higher levels of math hinges on this fundamental skill. But what's the best way to get there? What does research say about teaching basic math facts so they will stick? Math Fact Fluency provides answers to these questions and offers everything a teacher needs to teach, assess, and communicate with parents about basic math fact instruction.
