Student Learning Communities: A Springboard for Academic and Social-Emotional DevelopmentDouglas Fisher, Nancy Frey, and John AlmarodeHow can you provide students with a structured way to solve problems, share insight, and help one another continually develop new skills and expertise? In this book, educators

Douglas Fisher, Nancy Frey, and John Almarode explain how to create and sustain student learning communities that are more than just a different way of doing group work. Learn how to design group experiences and tasks that encourage dialogue; provide explicit instruction on goal setting and progress monitoring; use thoughtful teaming practices; teach students to seek, give, and receive feedback that amplifies their own and others' learning; and develop strategies that promote individual and group success.

Solving Academic and Behavior Problems: A Strengths-Based Guide for Teachers and Teams

Margaret Searle and Marilyn Swartz

How many times have you been stumped by a student's failure to learn? You tried everything in your tool kit, but nothing worked. Now, what if there were a process that would help you pinpoint the student's specific need and design a plan to swiftly remedy the problem? In this new book, the authors offer just that. This process is a system of support that helps general education teachers partner with specialists and parents to learn new ways to enrich student growth through conversations and meetings of 30 minutes or less. Using more than 25 video clips, Searle and Swartz walk you through the six steps of the appreciative inquiry problem-solving process.
