Social-Emotional Learning and the Brain: Strategies to Help Your Students Thrive

Marilee Sprenger

Today's teachers face a daunting challenge: how to ensure a positive school experience for their students, many of whom carry the burden of adverse childhood experiences, such as abuse, poverty, divorce, abandonment, and numerous other serious social issues. Spurred by her personal experience and extensive exploration of brain-based learning, author Marilee Sprenger explains how brain science can be applied to social-emotional learning. Offering dozens of specific strategies, Social-Emotional Learning and the Brain is an essential guide to creating supportive classroom environments and improving outcomes for all our students.

Solving Academic and Behavior Problems: A Strengths-Based Guide for Teachers and Teams

Margaret Searle and Marilyn Swartz

How many times have you been stumped by a student's failure to learn? You tried everything in your tool kit, but nothing worked. Now, what if there were a process that would help you pinpoint the student's specific need and design a plan to swiftly remedy the problem? In this new book, the authors offer just that. This process is a system of support that helps general education teachers partner with specialists and parents to learn new ways to enrich academic, social-emotional, and behavioral growth through conversations and meetings of 30 minutes or less. Using more than 25 video clips, Searle and Swartz walk you through the six steps of the appreciative inquiry problem-solving process.

Teaching to Strengths: Supporting Students Living with Trauma, Violence, and Chronic Stress

Debbie Zacarian, Lourdes Alvarez-Ortiz, and Judie Haynes

If you work with students who are experiencing or have experienced trauma, violence, or chronic stress, you know that little has been written about teaching this population and doing so from a strengths-based perspective. This ASCD book outlines a comprehensive approach to teaching that focuses on students' strengths and resiliency. It also encourages educators to embrace teaching and schoolwide practices that support and enhance the academic and socio-emotional development of students living with trauma, violence, and chronic stress.
